Comments: Radiation bombards us daily and we have little control over most of it. I am aware of health risks stemming from electrical devices and it has become more of a concern since a member of my household has been recovering from the effects of cancer treatment. This is one electrical device that we choose to live with out because of the noted risks involved with unnecessary exposure. In summary, we choose to opt out of this smart meter usage and protest the fees that are associated with reading the meter the old-fashioned way.
